

THE EXTENSION MASTER GARDENER
VOLUNTEERS OF PITT COUNTY PRESENT:

DR. LINDA CHALKER-SCOTT

"Horticultural Zombies - How to Recognize and Dispatch"

Dr. Linda Chalker-Scott, a Washington State University Puyallup faculty member, will be discussing dispelling garden myths such as "Are wood chips good or bad for your landscape?" or "Is landscape fabric necessary?" She has written several books including How Plants Work: The science behind the amazing things plants do and The Informed Gardener Blooms Again. Some of these titles will be available for sale. Dr. Chalker-Scott has also appeared on the television series "Growing a Greener World".
